Angus arrived as a single 36 year old ploughman on the ship 'Blenheim'¹ at Wellington on 27 December 1840.² He "commenced his eventful career in the colony as overseer to a body of men constructing a road from Kaiwarra to the Hutt, mostly his own fellow-passengers."³ By August 1845 the New Zealand Company had "made a road entirely at their own expense between the river Hutt and the town, a distance of about seven miles."⁴
